Hoofland's Column.

YOU ALL
HAVE HEARD OF
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS,
AND
HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC.

Prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia. Their introduction into this country from Germany occurred in 1825.
THEY CURED YOUR
FATHERS AND MOTHERS,

And will cure you and your children. They are entirely different from the many preparations now in the country called Bitters or Tonics. They are no tavern preparation, or anything like one; but good, honest, reliable medicines. They are
The greatest known remedies for Liver Complaint,
DYSPEPSIA,
Nervous Debility,
JAUNDICE,
Diseases of the Kidneys,
ERUPTIONS OF THE SKIN,
and all Diseases arising from a Disordered Liver, stomach, or IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD.

Constipation, Flatulence, Inward Piles, Fullness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for Food, Fullness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried or Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a Lying Posture, Dimness of Vision, Dots or Webs before the sight, Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin and Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, etc., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of Evil and Great Depression of Spirits.

All these indicate diseases of the Liver or Digestive Organs, combined with impure blood.

is entirely vegetable and contains no liquor. It is a compound of Fluid Extracts. The Roots, Herbs, and Barks from which these extracts are made, are gathered in Germany. All the medicinal virtueus are extracted from them by a scientific Chemist. These extracts are then forwarded to this country to be used expressly for the manufacture of these Bitters. There is no alcoholic substance of any kind used in compounding the Bitters, hence it is the only Bitters that can be used in cases where alcoholic stimulants are not advisable.

HOOFLAND'S GERMAN TONIC

is a combination of all the ingredients of the Bitters, with PURE Santa Cruz Rum, Orange, etc. It is used for the same diseases as the Bitters, in case where some pure alcoholic stimulus is required. You will bear in mind that these remedies are entirely different from any others advertised for the cure of the diseases named, these being scientific preparations of medicinal extracts, while the others are mere decoctions of rum in some form. The TONIC is decidedly one of the most pleasant and agreeable remedies ever offered to the public. Its taste is exquisite. It is a pleasure to take it, while its life-giving, exhilarating, and medicinal qualities have caused it to be known as the greatest of all tonics.

DEBILITY.

There is no medicine equal to Hoofland's German Bitters or Tonic in cases of Debility. They impart a tone and vigor to the whole system, strengthen the appetite, cause an enjoyment of the food, enable the stomach to digest it, purify the blood, give a good, sound, healthy complexion, eradicate the yellow tinge from the eye, impart a bloom to the cheeks, and change the patient from a short-breathed, emaciated, weak, and nervous invalid, to a full-faced, stout, and vigorous person.

Weak and Delicate Children are made strong by using the Bitters or Tonic. In fact, they are Family Medicines. They can be administered with perfect safety to a child three months old, the most delicate female, or a man of ninety.

These remedies are the best Blood Purifiers
ever known and will cure all diseases resulting from bad blood. Keep your blood pure; keep your Liver in order; keep your digestive organs in a sound, healthy condition, by the use of these remedies, and no diseases will ever assail you. The best men in the country recommend them. If years of honest reputation go for anything, you must try these preparations.

FROM HON. GEO. W. WOODWARD,

Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
PHILADELPHIA, March 16, 1867.
I find that "Hoofland's German Bitters" is not an intoxicating beverage, but is a good tonic, useful in disorders of the digestive organs, and of great benefit in cases of debility and want of nervous action in the system.
Yours Truly,
GEO. W. WOODWARD.

FROM HON. JAMES TAOMPSON.

Judge of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania.
PHILADELPHIA, April 28, 1866.
I consider "Hoofland's German Bitters" a valuable medicine in case of attacks of Indigestion or Dyspepsia. I can certify this from my experience of it. Yours, with respect,
JAMES THOMPSON.

FROM REV. JOSEPH H. KENNARD, D. D.,

Pastor of the Tenth Baptist Church, Philadelphia.
DR. JACKSON—DEAR SIR:—I have been frequently requested to connect my name with recommendations of different kinds of medicines, but regarding the practice as out of my appropriate sphere, I have in all cases declined; but with a clear proof in various instances, and particularly in my own family, of the usefulness of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, I depart for once from my usual course, to express my full conviction that for general debility of the system, and especially for Liver Complaint, it is a safe and valuable preparation. In some cases it may fail; but usually, I doubt not, it will be very beneficial to those who suffer from the above causes. Yours, very respectfully,
J. H. KENNARD,
Eigth, below Coates Street.

THE SHAMROCK.

BY THOMAS MOORE.

Through Erin's Isle
To sport awhile,
As Love and Valor wandered,
With Wit, the sprite,
Whose quiver bright
A thousand arrows squandered,
Where'er they pass
A triple grass
Shoots up with dew-drops streaming,
As softly green
As emerald seen
Through purest crystal gleaming.
O, the shamrock, the green, immortal shamrock,
Chosen leaf
Of bard and chief,
Old Erin's native shamrock.

Says Valor, "See,
They spring for me,
Those leafy gems of morning!"
Says Love, "No, no,
For ME they grow,
My fragrant path adorning!"
But Wit perceives
The triple leaves,
And cries, "O! do not sever
A type that blends
Three Godlike friends—
Love, Valor, Wit, forever!"
O, the shamrock, the green, immortal shamrock,
Chosen leaf
Of bard and chief,
Old Erin's native shamrock!

So, firmly fond
May last the bond
They wove that morn together,
And ne'er may fall
One drop of gall
On Wit's celestial feather!
May Love, as shoot
His flowers and fruit,
Of thorny falsehood weed 'em—
May Valor ne'er
His standard rear
Against the cause of freedom!
O, the shamrock, the green, immortal shamrock,
Chosen leaf
Of bard and chief,
Old Erin's native shamrock!

HENDERSON, GRIMES AND FESSENDEN ON IMPEACHMENT.

The Great Radical Farce.

Letter from Senator Henderson.

Senator Henderson, of Missouri, has addressed the following letter to the Missouri Congressional delegation:

WASHINGTON CITY, May 14, 1868.

Gentlemen:—In an interview with you on the day before yesterday, you suggested that my position on Impeachment question was against the almost unanimous wish of the Union party of our State, and that you feared violence and bloodshed might follow the President's acquittal. In as much as I owed my position here to that party, and expected to support its men and measures in the coming canvass especially, and as I deprecated the consequences you thought might follow, although I did not anticipate nor fear any such results, yet, in order to place myself beyond the possible censure of those whom I know to be my best friends, I at once proposed to forward to the Governor my resignation as Senator. To this you did not consent, and I then requested you, as my friends, to consult together and determine what you thought was proper for me to do under the circumstances.

You did so, and the result was, that, believing that the safety of the country and the interests of the loyal people of the United States demand the immediate removal of Andrew Johnson, you asked me to withhold my vote on any article of impeachment upon which you say "I cannot vote affirmatively." As soon as I had time to read and considder this paper, I found I could not comply with the request without that degree of humiliation and shame to which I was satisfied you, as honorable men, would not wish to subject me. I had already spoken in the Senate and I thought conclusively (at least to my mind) against eight of the articles, and had informed you that I was no less decided in my judgment against the sufficiency of two others, leaving me in doubt only as to one. If, with these clear convictions, expressed in full Senate, I should now sit silent, I would forfeit my own self-respect and stand defenceless before the world.

You agreed to reconsider your opinion as expressed, and although you at first resolved to adhre to it, I am gratified that upon further reflection, you agreed with me that the request was quite unreasonable, and you still persisted, as your opinion that my duty required my vote to be cast or withheld, as I might deem necessary, on some one article, so as to secure conviction.

I at once mentioned the difficulties attending this suggestion. Senators had been and were still so reticent on the subject that I could not ascertain their positions. I knew them to be greatly divided on the several articles, and they were even liable to change their minds at any moment before the final vote should be taken; but as you expressed a desire that I should not resign, unless it became absolutely necessary to have a successor in my place favorable to conviction, I promised to give you the result of my conclusions, so soon as I ascertain the probable result on one or two of the articles. I cannot, and I now write you to say, and be assured that I say it in that spirit of friendship and kindness, which you have always extended to me, and which now undiminished I have ever entertained for you, that your request on this subject placed me in the most difficult and delicate possible position. I am satisfied you do not realize it. I have given it the most serious consideration, both on your and my account, and especially on account of the gravity and importance of the subject presented.

The result of that consideration is, that having been compelled as a member of the Senate to take an oath to try this case, and to do impartial justice according to the law and the evidence, I cannot now honorably escape the duties imposed by the obligation. It was for the House of Representatives to prefer the articles of Impeachment, it is for the Senate to try them; and the members of the house have no more right to dictate or control the judgment of the Senate in the premises than members of a grand jury presenting an indictment have to dictate or influence the verdict of the petit jury on the trial of crime. And I do not thus speak for the purpose of reflection on your action, for I distinctly disclaim such purpose, knowing as I do that what you have done and said springs from the best of motives, as well as the kindest of feelings. My duty in the premises I cannot shirk, nor can I divide it with others. If I resign before the conclusion of the trial, it strikes me that I make sport of the obligations of my oath, and unnecessarily subject myself to the imputation of weakness or something worse.

If I remain and do my duty, my constituents at present may condemn me, but will not when they hear my reasons, and the people of Misouri have no reason, or desire, I hope, to strike me down without a hearing. If I stay and withhold my vote, as you request, you are aware that the result would be the same as if I voted adversely.

If I resign and a successor should come, perhaps a proper sense of delicacy would prevent him from violating every precedent on this subject by casting a vote at all. If he sat silent, it would be the same in result as if he voted adversely. If he voted affirmatively and thus secured conviction, this manner of securing conviction would be likely to neutralize in the end every advantage to be derived from impeachment.—Hence I have resolved to remain at my post and discharge my duty as it is given me to know it, and appealing to Heaven for the rectitude of my intentions and the integrity of my conduct, I shall follow the dictates of my conscience to the end of this trial, and throw myself upon the judgment of a generous people for my vindication. Your friend.

J. B. HENDERSON.

To Messrs. George W. Anderson, William A. Pile, C. A. Newcomb, J. J. Gravely, J. W. McClurg, B. F. Loan and J. F. Benjamin.

Senator Fessenden's Argument.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—During the secret session of the Senate on Monday, Senator Fessenden delivered a long speech on the impeachment question, in which he defined his position.

He quoted the provisions of the constitution giving the President the right to appoint, and instanced the case of the removal of Timothy Pickering by the elder Adams, as an instance of the constitutional construction and the the practice under the laws. He said it had been argued that even if this right of removal by the President may be supposed to exist during the recess of the Senate, it is otherwise when that body is in session. I am unable to see the grounds of this distinction or to find any grounds for this distinction. The Constitution makes no such distinction, as it says nothing about removals. Frequent instances have occurred where the President thought proper to remove an officer at once before sending in the name of his successor, and prior to the act of March 2d, 1867, I never found his right to do so seriously questioned. He says, judging from the short experience we have had under the law of 1867, the supervisory power of the Senate over removals is poorly calculated to secure the prompt and vigorous correction of abuses in office, especially upon the modern claim that when offices are of a local character, the representative has a right to designate the officer, under which claim, this branch of executive authority, instead of being lodged where the constitution placed it, passes to one of the legislative branches of the government. He next considers the removal of Mr. Stanton, and says that before the passage of the Civil Tenure of Office act the President had clearly the right to remove him, and urged that the case of Secretary Stanton did not come under that act, because he had never been appointed by President Johnson, arguing that he was appointed by President Lincoln and merely held the office under sufference and was liable to removal at any time. He concludes his argument on the subject as follows: As Mr. Stanton was appointed to hold during the pleasure of the President for the time being, and his tenure was not affected by the act of March 2, 1867, the President had a right to remove him from office on the 21st of Febuary, 1868, and consequently cannot be held guilty under the first article, and even if I were not satisfied of the construction given herein of the act of 1867, I should hesitate to convict of a misdemeanor for what was done on the 21st of Febuary, 1868, because it was the mere issuing of a written order, and failed in accomplishing the act intended, and it would be an abuse of power to depose the President, on the part of the Senate, which could not be justified before the country or the world. With regard to the letter of authority to Gen. Thomas he concluded that as the President had a legal right to remove Mr. Stanton, he had a right to designate Gen Thomas to discharge the duties of the office ad interim.

Alluding to the speeches of the President in relation to Congress, he asks, is the President alone excluded from the privilege of expressing his opinions on the constitutionality of a particular Congress, and from denouncing its acts as encroachments upon constitutional rights and the fundamental principles of government? In process of time there might possibly be a Congress which would be justly liable to the severe criminations of a President. In such case, is he to remain silent, and is he forbidden by the Constitution, on pain of removal from office, to warn the people of the United States of their danger? If he believed his strictures to be true he had a perfect moral right to speak; if he did not, his offence is against good morals, and not against any human law. There is nothing in these words to prove the allegation that the President's intent in speaking them was to impair and destroy the respect of the people for Congress or the laws, by it duly and constitutionally enacted, or set aside its rightful authority and powers. He had not been able to discover any measure or any threats against Congress, unless they are found in the declaration that he would veto their measures. The speeches at Cleveland and St. Louis, though highly objectionable in style, and unbecoming a President, afford nothing to justify the allegation that they were menacing towards Congress or to the laws of the country.

In considering the 11th article, he says that however objectionable and reprehensible the claims of the President might be, he cannot be convicted of a high misdemeanor for asserting an unconstitutional doctrine, if he has made no atttempt to give it practical effect.

In closing, he states that it is evident that the offence for which a chief magistrate is removed from office, and the power entrusted to him by the people transferred to other hands, and especially where the hands which receive it are to be the same which take it from him, should be of such a character as to commend itself to the minds of all right thinking men as beyond all question an adequate cause. It should be free from the taint of party, leave no reasonable ground of suspicion upon the motives of those who inflict the penalty, and address itself to the country and the civilized world as a measure justly called for by the gravity of the crime and the necessity of its punishment.

The first article failing, the 3d, 4th, 5th, 6th, and 8th must fail with it.—Article 9 is actually disproved.

Senator Grimes' Argument.

The argument of Senator Grimes, in the secret session of the United States Senate, against the conviction of President Johnson, was powerful and unanswerable, and no wonder it has caused such consternation among the Impeachers. We have room but for the concluding portion, which was as follows:

I am wholy unable from these despatches, to deduce any criminal intent. They manifest a diversity of political views between the President and Congress. The case contains ample evidence outside of these despatches of that diversity of opinion. I do not perceive that these despatches change the nature of that well known and in my opinion much to be deplored diversity. I have thus as briefly as possible stated my views in this case. I have expressed no views upon any of the questions upon which the President has been arraigned at the bar of public opinion outside of the charges. I have no right to travel out of the record.—Mr. Johnson's character as a statesman, his relation to political parties, his conduct as a citizen, his efforts at reconstruction, the exercise of his pardoning power, the character of his appointments, and the influence under which they were made, are not before us on any charges and are not impugned by any testimony. Nor can I suffer my judgment of the law governing this case to be influenced by political considerations. I cannot agree to destroy the harmonious working of the constitution for the sake of getting rid of an unacceptable President. Whatever may be my opinion of the incumbent, I cannot consent to trifle with the high office he holds. I can do nothing which by implication may be construed into an approval of impeachment as a part of future political machinery. However widely, therefore, I may differ with the President respecting his political views and measures, and however deeply I have regretted and do regret the differences between himself and the Congress of the United States, I am not able to record my vote that he is guilty of high crimes and misdemeanors by reason of those differences. I am acting in a judicial capacity, under conditions whose binding obligations can hardly be exceeded, and I must act according to the best of my ability and judgment, and as they require. If, according to their dictates, the President is guilty, I "must" say so; if according to their dictates, the President is not guilty, I "must" say so. In my opinion the President has not been guilty of an impeachable offence by reason of anything alleged in either of the articles preferred against him at the bar of the Senate by the House of Representatives.

THE WESTEREN FRUIT CROP.—The apprehensions indulged in some two weeks ago of the damage done the Western fruit trees by the unexpected frost have been happily dissipated by late reports. A letter from Egypt, Illinois, says: "The late frosts have damaged the fruit in some sections, but not materially." The Madison (Indiana) Courier learns that less than one-third of the peach buds have been destroyed in that vicinity, while apples, pears and plums have suffered no injury whatever. The Hope (Indiana) Watchman says peaches have not suffered in that locality. The Park County (Indiana) Republican says, "the fruit crop has not suffered seriously from the late cold weather." The Greensburg Chronicle, Vincennes Gazette, Green Castle Banner, and other newspapers of Indiana make similar statements. A prominent fruit-grower writes from Lockland, Ohio, that fruit buds are safe so far as to insure a fair crop, if nothing befall them hereafter." The Cincinnati Times says. "On examination of the buds last evening we found some of the sweet cherries still alive, the Early May in plenty; some varieties of pears thinned out, but enough left; peaches in abundance of the later varieties; plums plenty, and apples and quinces unhurt." The Dayton (Ohio) Journal, of the 18th, says a careful examination of the fruit buds in that region proves that but little damage has yet been done by the frost. In one orchard, out of a dozen samples each of peach and plum buds, but two of the former and three of the latter were blighted; but a similar examination of other fruit revealed no deficiency. Reports equally encouraging have been received from Zanesville and other sections of the Buckeye State.

THE NIGGER AND THE HENROOST.—A friend who had accompanied me had heard of a bargain in real estate on the hilltop above Jackson City, and we went up to look at it. There were six acres of fine land, and a two and a half story house, habitable, but modest, for $1,000 cash. For $3,000 more an entire fort, well preserved, could be purchased, adjoining the property. Around the house some lusty silver poplars and maples grew. A good well, a garden, and an unsurpassed view of the Capital City, were among the advantages. Part of the land, freshly plowed, showed rich and black at the base of the fort. It certainly was a cheap property, on Arlington Heights, and only a mile from Washington.

We asked the tenant if the negroes of the neighboring village troubled him. "The sight of 'em trobles me," said this Last Family. "Dogon 'em; I hate a free nigger! As to stealing, if that's what you mean, they steal nothing but the chickens."

"Then they do take poultry?"

"It's my belief," said the solitary tenant, "that there'll have to be chickings in a future state for the nigger. Heaven will be no heaven to him without hen-coops. 'Pears to me the chickens know him. They never cackle where a nigger comes. They roost low on his night. It's nigh this pint, gentlemen, that in the State of Virginia nobody but a nigger can afford to eat chicking in five years. The animal will be his speciality and monopoly. Chicking will be to a white family what pork is to a Jew."

"But why do the negroes confine their depradations to poultry?"

"The nigger ain't got enterprise to steal anythiug bigger; he'd no more steal a cow than he'd steal the Capitol yonder. He's fond of stews. The chicking just fits into his gipsey-pot. The grease of it iles his jints. He loves it because he stole it. He eats it out of pure affection. He cooks it at night time, and biles it with the feathers on. He hopes the feathers will evaporate with the biling; but if they don't he goes the whole fowl, quills and all. Gentlemen if there's any sincere happiness in this world, it's nigger eating a biled chicking on the sly!"—Cor. Cincinnati Commercial.

VULGAR WORDS.—There is as much connection between the words and the thoughts as there is between the thoughts and the words; the latter are not only the expression of the former, but they have power to re-act upon the soul and leave the stain of corruption there. A young man who allows himself to use any profane or vulgar words has not only shown that there is a foul spot on his mind, but by the utterance of that word he extends that spot and inflames it, till by indulgence it will soon pollute and ruin the whole soul. Be careful of your words, as well as your thoughts. If you can control the tongue so that no improper words are pronounced by it, you will soon be able to control the mind and save it from destruction. You extinguish the fire by smothering it to prevent bad thoughts bursting out in language.

Negro Suffrage.

Chalk and ivory! Heels and shins!
Sambo's glory now begins!
Go away white man, you don't know
How to vote right—dat is so.
Yaw, yaw, yaw!—yaw, yaw, yaw!
De happiest day I ever saw!
Whar's de tickets! Fotch 'em straight!
I votes early—I votes late—
I votes often—I votes right;
I'se no ignoramus white;
Man and brudder equal born,
De Maker's image—(in a horn,)
De glory ob de risin' day;
De cullud cuss from Africa!
Oh, kinky minky 'tinky, oh!
If dis ain't glory, tell me so.

THE TAR AND THE ACTRESS.—"When I was a poor girl," said the Duchess of St. Albans, "working very hard for my thirty shillings a week, I went down to Liverpool during the holidays, where I was always kindly received. I was to act in a new piece, something like those pretty little dramas they get up now at the minor theatres, and in my character I represented a poor, friendless, orphan girl reduced to the most wretched poverty. A heartless tradesman prosecutes the said heroine for a heavy debt, and insists upon putting her into the prison unless some one will be bail for her. The girl replies:

"'Then I have no hope; I have not a friend in the world.'

"'What! will no one be bail for you to save you from prison!' asked the stern creditor.

"'I have told you I have not a friend on the earth,' is the reply.

"But just as I was uttering the words, I saw a sailor in the gallery springing over the railing, letting himsels down from one tier to another until he bounded clear over the orchestra and the footlights, on the stage, and placed himself beside me in a moment.

"'Yes you shall have one friend at least, my poor young woman,' said he, with the greatest expression in his honest, sunburnt countenance. 'I will go bail for you to any amount; and as for you,' turning to the frightened actor, 'if you don't bear a hand and shift your moorings, you lubber, it will be worse for you when I come athwart your bows.'

"Every creature in the house rose; the uproar was perfectly indescribable; peals of laughter, screams of terror, cheers from his tawny messmates in the gallery, preparatory scraping of violins from the orchestra were mingled together; and amidst the universal din there stood the unconscious cause of it, sheltering the poor young woman, and breathing defiance and destruction against my mimic persecutor. He was only persuaded to relinquish his care of me by the manager pretending to arrive and rescue me with a profusion of theatrical bank notes."

MARRIAGE.—A recent sermon by Henry Ward Beecher has the following in regard to marriage:

You that are starting, avoid the errors of those who have gone too fast and too far.

You that are old, bear witness for yourselves and seek to repair as far as you can the errors of your own lives, by warning and directing the young.

Young men, take hold of each other's hands.

Maidens, look to the God of your fathers.

If there be any one in this world who cannot afford not to be a christian, it is a woman. If there be any one whose beauty fades as a flower and whose grace needs the sustenance of the ineffable; if there be any one more than another upon whom blight falls more rudely; if there be any one more than another who is more burdened with grief or more wrung with sorrow, it is a woman that is not a Christian. The ladder between your souls and God is not half so long, as that between our souls and God. God made woman to be better than man, and the perversion is in proportion when she is worse.

I beseech of every young man and every maiden, that is beginning life, to begin it aright. Now is the time.—Days are passing; years are accumulating. It will be too late by and by. Begin now.

A SPUNKY WIFE.—A middle aged farmer and his wife were enjoying a winter evening closely together when the conversation turned upon religious matters as described in the Bible, which the man had open before him.

"Wife," said the farmer, "I've been thinking what happy society Solomon must have had in his day, with so many wives, &c., as is here represented."

"Indeed," said the wife, somewhat miffed.

"You had better think of something else, then. A pretty Solomon you would make, truly; you can't take proper care of your one wife. What a figure you would cut, then, with a dozen wives, and all of them as spunky as I am!"

The farmer took his hat and went to the stable to feed the cattle for the night.

A LEARNED professor in a New England college was accustomed to demand of students an excuse whenever they were dilatory at recitation. The excuse given, he invariably added:

"Very well; but don't let it happen again."

One fine morning a married student happening to be behind time, was promptly interrogated as to the cause. Slightly embarrassed, he replied:

"The truth is, sir, I had an addition to my family this morning, and it was not convenient to be here sooner."

"Very well," replied the professor, in his quick, nervous manner; "very well; but don't let it happen again!"

"HAVE you paid the tax on your income, Pat?"

"No, sir."

"And why not?"

"Because it is incom-pat-i-ble with my interests."

A GENTLEMAM in lecturing for the blind asylum the other evening began by gravely remarking, "If all the world were blind, what a melancholy sight it wold be."

A philosopher explains the science of getting rich in one word—grab; how to keep rich—keep what you grab.

DEMOCRATIC STATE NOMINATIONS.

FOR AUDITOR GENERAL,

HON. CHARLES E. BOYLE,

FOR SURVEYOR GENERAL,

GEN. WELLINGTON H. ENT,

of Columbia County.

Campaign Gazette!

REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT, Civil Liberty and Constitutional Rights!

NO STANDING ARMY!

NO FREEDMEN'S BUREAU!

NO NEGRO STATES!

White Men Must Rule America!

"Light, more light!" is the startling cry of the honest people groping in the darkness of Radicalism. "Light, more light!" shouts the groaning taxpayer, bending under the load which a Radical Congress has heaped upon him. "Light, more light!" is the pleading cry that comes to us from those who earnestly seek a remedy for the disease that is tugging at the vitals of the nation. Look and ye shall see! Read and ye shall know! The BEDFORD GAZETTE, for the Presidential Campaign, will be a complete compendium of political news, speeches, documents and every thing that pertains to a political canvass in the columns of a weekly newspaper. It will be published from the first day of June until the seventh of November, next, at the following low terms, cash in advance:

One copy,	$ .75
Ten copies,	6.00
Twenty copies,	11.00
Fifty copies,	25.00

Not only should every Democrat have his county newspaper, during the coming campaign, but he should likewise make it a point to furnish his Republican neighbor a copy. This is the plan upon which our opponents have acted for years, and it is about time that Democrats do something of the same sort. NOW, GO TO WORK and put your Democratic newspaper into the hands of every Republican who will read. If you will do this you will accomplish more good in six months than you will by any other means in six years. Democratic politicians, throughout the county, are enabled, by the above low terms, to circulate Democratic newspapers at a very small cost. We appeal to them to see to getting up clubs, and to see to it in time. Now is the time to sow the seed. After a little while the heat of passion and prejudice will beam upon the public mind in all its intense fierceness, and then seed-time will have passed. Friends, let us hear from you!

ENLARGEMENT.

At the close of the present volume, on the first of August next, the GAZETTE will be enlarged to thirty-two columns, and will then be one of the largest weeklies in the State. As this enlargement will entail considerable expense upon us, we ask all who are in arrears to pay up promptly. Cannot one thousand of our subscribers pay in advance. On the first of August we will begin the publication of a Roll of Honor, which will contain the names of all subscribers who pay for their paper in advance. Now friends, let us see whether this list cannot be made to run up to one thousand names. One half of our subscribers, at least, should pay in advance.

TO OUR READERS.

The editor of this paper having become connected with the Democratic Daily newspaper at Harrisburg, will hereafter spend a part of his time at the latter place, at the same time retaining his interest in the GAZETTE and continuing his residence in Bedford. The GAZETTE will remain under his editorial supervision, and each issue will contain the usual number of articles from his pen. He has obtained the aid of a competent assistant, and hence feels justified in saying that the GAZETTE will be greatly improved in the future. During the coming campaign the Democracy of Bedford county shall hear from us, as in times past, both from the tripod and the stump. Meanwhile, let the party be thoroughly organized, and let every Democrat be prepared to strike for victory.

COUNTY CONVENTION.

We call the attention of the Democrats of Bedford county to the call published in the GAZETTE for the annual Democratic County Convention, to be held on Monday, June 22. We hope the best men in the party will be elected as delegates and that there will be a full representation in the Convention.

TWO COUNTRIES AND TWO FLAGS.

The Crosby Opera House Chicago Radical Platform, upon which Useless Slaughter Grant has been placed as a candidate for President, contains the following plank:

"The guarantee of Congress of equal suffrage to all loyal men at the South, was demanded by every consideration of public safety, of gratitude, and of justice, and must be maintained, while the question of suffrage in all the loyal states properly belongs to the people of those states."

Thus "equal suffrage to all loyal men at the South," is made one of the cardinal principles of the so-called Republican party, whilst the question whether "equal suffrage" should be granted to "all loyal men" at the North, is left undetermined. "All loyal men," including 600,000 Negroes, are made voters at the South, whilst at the North, "the people" are to decide whether "all loyal men", Negroes included, shall, or shall not become voters. This is equality with a vengeance! Here is drawn a line between the North and the South, as broad as that which divided the two sections in the days of slavery. Here are made two countries, with a different rule of suffrage for each. Here are two flags set up, the one with "Equal suffrage to all loyal men at the South," inscribed upon it, the other bearing the motto, "Equal suffrage to all loyal men at the North, provided they can get it!" Of course we protest against Negro Suffrage, in all its phases; but we ask intelligent "Republicans" to note this glaring inconsistency in the platform which they are asked to endorse. If Equal Suffrage is to be the rule in the United States, why give the benefit thereof to the ignorant and degraded ex-slaves of the South, whilst you deny it to the more intelligent and enlightened blacks of the North? It is answered, in the language of the Chicago Platform, that "gratitude and justice" demand that the Negroes of the South should be given the right of suffrage. Ah! but many of those Negroes were "rebels" and even now sympathize with the disfranchised whites, as was proved by the recent elections in Georgia and Louisiana.—Besides, do not "gratitude and justice" equally demand that the blacks of the North, who went into the army and "proved their loyalty," should be granted the same privileges that are conferred upon those of the South? Most assuredly. How cowardly and shameful, then, is the distinction which this sham "Republican" party makes between the blacks of the South and those of the North! How strong the contrast between this and the doctrine of the Democratic party, which advocates one rule of suffrage for all the States, for the whole country.—That rule is, The people of each and every state, North and South, East and West, shall settle for themselves, the question of Suffrage. Under the Democratic theory there is but one country and but one flag. Under Democratic rule, no black line shall divide the Union into two countries, with one rule of suffrage on the one side and another on the other, no two flags shall symbolize different political institutions for different sections, but the people of each and every State shall determine for themselves what shall be the character of their institutions, subject only to the Constitution of the United States. Away, then, with Grant who stands upon this platform which divides, instead of uniting, our country; away with the political organization which rallies under two flags, one for the North and the other for the South; let every true patriot, every man who hopes and prays that the Republic may yet live, march under the banner of Democracy, whose motto is, "One Country, One flag and One Destiny!"

GRANT ON A NEGRO PLATFORM.

Gen. U. S. Grant has been nominated for President by the Radical Convention which met at Chicago last week. He has accepted the nomination and stands upon the platform adopted by the Convention. The second resolution of that platform endorses the action of Congress in forcing the right of suffrage upon the Negroes of the South at the point of the bayonet, and declares that this "equal suffrage must be "maintained." Thus Grant is made the endorser of the infamous Reconstruction acts which make 600,000 Negroes voters and give them as much power in the Government as is possessed by 600,000 white voters in the North! There was quite a sprinkling of Negro delegates in the Convention, who, of course, were enthusiastic for Grant. John Cessna was there, too, but we think was a little ashamed of himself, as he didn't open his mouth during any of the proceedings. Imagine John sitting between two odoriferous Sambos, in the crowded Crosby Opera House, where everybody and everything was red hot for Grant! W-h-e-w! No wonder he had nothing to say. We doubt not, however, that he assisted, in a quiet way, the darkey delegates, in unanimously nominating Grant.

OPENING OF THE CAMPAIGN!

GREAT GUNS FROM THE GUBERNATORIAL GAS-WORKS!

Geary Speaks! Let All the Earth Keep Silence Before Him!

On Friday evening last, Gov. Geary addressed the National Union Club, of Philadelphia, upon the subject of the Chicago nominations and politics generally. The following report of his remarks is taken verbatim from the Philadelphia Press, of Saturday. We would like to see the man who, after reading this luminous speech of His Excellency, will dare to endorse the ill natured remark of John Covode, that "Geary is the humbuggest Governor we ever had!" If any one doubts Geary's ability to make such a speech, we refer him to the Press of the date aforesaid. Forney may have "doctored" it a little, but we do not hesitate to pronounce it original with the Governor. The Press reports him as follows, barring the headings of the paragraphs, which are ours:

He Leaves Harrisburg, amid the Booming of Cannon.

Mr. President and Gentlemen of the National Union Club: Please accept my hearty and cordial thanks for this welcome to me. When I left Harrisburg I left it amid the booming of cannon resounding on the banks of the Susquehanna. On the way here I saw glad eyes, banners displayed, and the hearty shake of the hand in every village and hamlet. I say I feel glad when I hear the booming of artillery and saw the spirit that is in the people of Peensylvania. I felt that though we had a wily foe to contend with, yet, with the nominations that the convention at Chicago has made, we have nothing to fear while this spirit is in the people.

He concludes there is work for the Rads., and makes some "sedentary remarks."

But it is true that we have work before us, even with the great hero, Grant, at the head of our national ticket. We must be up and doing, and not tire either in the day or night.—We are contending with a foe that has been the enemy of the country for years, with whom many of us contended on the tented field. You must expect my remarks to be somewhat sedentary, for I have had no time to prepare a written speech or collect my thoughts. Mr. President, if ever the Republican party had reason to congratulate itself and the country on a favorable movement, it is upon the present occasion.

He has known Grant for twenty one years and testifies that there was "stuff" in him at Molino Del Rey.

The Convention at Chicago has placed before us a most acceptable ticket, one that has not been excelled since the days of Washington and Jackson.—What can be said of General Grant that has not been said to every one present already?

General Grant has been placed on the ticket for the highest position known to the American people, and he is well deserving of it. It has been my province to know him for twenty-one years. We were both young men together in the Mexican war. He was the same enduring hero then as he proved himself to be in the late rebellion. I knew him when a second lieutenant, when Molino del Rey proved that there was more stuff in him than apparent upon the surface. He was brevetted as a first lieutenant there for gallantry. He left some time afterwards for home, but not before he had been made a captain.

He gives the best reason why Grant should be elected President, viz: His father was from the Democratic county of Westmoreland:

We, as Pennsylvanians, have something to say of him. His father was from old Westmoreland county, the place of my own nativity. I have often stood on the ground where he was born. I know Grant well. It was my good fortune to serve under him in the war just closed. I first served under him at Wauhatchie. I first saw then the power of his mind as a military man. [Applause.] He first directed the assault upon Lookout Mountain. He turned the cannon upon Missionary Ridge and on Chickamauga, and obtained the victories at Taylor's Ridge, near Ringgold.

He has dined with Grant and never saw any thing strong upon his table, but thinks Ulysses has been treated—ungenerously.

I want to show you what I know of the man that he may be acceptable to you. I know him well; I have dined with him, and I never saw anything strong upon the table. I never knew him to touch spirits of any kind. I believe there is no man who has been more ungenerously treated on that subject during the last few months than Grant.

Grant spreads his maps before Geary and informs the latter that he (Geary) and his divisions were instrumental, &c.

On a certain occasion, when dining with Grant at Chattanooga, after the cloth had been removed he called for his maps, which he spread before me, and said: "Sir, you and your division have been instrumental in obtaining the victories around this city. The plan for the next campaign is already formed, and it is proper you should know it. I intend to concentrate my troops around this place and pour them on Atlanta, while a strong attack is made on Richmond. After Atlanta falls a line will be taken for the seashore, ending either at Charleston or Savannah, and having thus made our point, we will enter the Carolinas and take Richmond."

Justice must be done—Sherman stole Grant's thunder—Grant's talents shown by his name being a "synonyme."

This was in 1863, nine months before the city of Atlanta was taken. Justice should be done, and I tell you so that you will know who it was that planned the march to the sea, and bisected the Confederacy, and brought the rebellion to a termination. [Cheers.] As far as his other military services are concerned, it would be superogation in me to attempt to discribe them. Many of you have served under him and knew the man before he became Commander-in chief of the army. We shall have in him when elected, one of the best Presidents we ever had. We already know something of him.—When he was in the War Department he showed his talents, by the fact that his name has since been a synonyme.

The Scholar Schuyler—Geary gives the best reason why he should be supported, viz: He was was born in the Democratic city of New York.

Schuyler Colfax is another self-made man—one of the citizens of the country. A man born in the city of N. York—one of the ripest scholars on the continent, whose mind is refined by every accomplishment; who is acquainted with all the forms and spirit of parliamentary law—Schuyler Colfax [applause] comes of the purest old Revolutionary blood on both sides. He is almost a direct descendant from General Schuyler. There was never a greater man presented than him; as a statesman he is good, safe, sure, prudent, and patriotic. There is not a dissenting voice in the land that if it speaks from the heart, can say he is not so.

If Grant should "slip up" on Radicalism, &c.

If any accident should happen to the head of the ticket we have in him one whom it is safe to rely on, who will adhere to the principles of the Republican party. It would not be as when the lamented Lincoln was assassinated, that fatal scheme that gave us the man who causes thousands to hang their heads with shame—a man whom I proved here, in this city, last fall, was a rebel before the war, and only became a Unionist because he could not be second in the government of Jefferson Davis. I know him and know what I say. I challenge any man in the United States to deny it.

He exhumes the corpse of Jim Lane and reviles the dead.

There is also another circumstance that makes us bow our heads in humiliation, to think that we have in our household, men who betray their families. A few years ago, James Lane, of Kansas, came with all the dignity of his State to the United States Senate, and there shamefully abused the confidence that the people reposed in him; recreant to every trust, he became in every sense of the word a bad man. When he went back, no voice sounded a welcome, no friends came to greet him, and what was the consequence? He took a pistol and blew his brains out—a most fitting termination for his treason.

Terrible treason; "We must have a discipline in the Republican party or it will fall to pieces."

We have had in the late impeachment trial such terrible treason as to make us tremble to think that we must trust our lives, our honors, and our fortunes to such men. We must have a discipline in the Republican party, or it will fail to pieces. It is like an army. When a Senator is elected, he is to the people just as a general officer is to his brigade or division. What would we think if we saw seven or eight generals back out of an engagement or desert to the enemy? If they were caught again they would be tried by a drumhead court-martial, and shot.

An honest confession: "For six or seven years we (Geary and his party) have been pouring out the blood of the nation like water."

For six or seven years we have been pouring out the blood of the nation like water; three or four hundred thousand of our people have laid down their lives.

The people have quit the shooting business, but the Radicals still carry on the War.

The din of arms has now ceased; the musketry no longer rattles; yet the war has not ceased. It still goes on, and you have placed your cause in the hands of your members of Congress. Suppose they go over to the enemy, what punishment should be inflicted? There is not a man here who would not condemn them to be tried by a drumhead court-martial and shot.

"Two years ago when I was a candidate for Governor." Geary is safe.

Think of the consequences of their acts. Shall the people continue to mourn forever? Shall the great republican party be disintegrated, whenever any recreant choses to go off? I feel that the people are ready and willing to punish traitors, and in the language of the arch-traitor himself, "make them take back seats." Two years ago, when I was a candidate for Governor, people wanted to know if John W. Geary was safe. Will he go over to the enemy?" was the question. I told you then that the Allegheny mountains would fly from their base before that would happen.

The humble Geary made California a free state; he was "in the Democracy" as a spy and a traitor. The Democracy murderers.

I fought against the bad principles of the Democracy twenty years ago, only in a different form. In California in 1849, if the truth was told, your humble servant was the principal instrument in causing the State to be a free State; although I was in the Democracy, I was fighting against the Democracy—those who profess to be Democrats but have not the first principle of Democracy [Applause]. They were called Fire-eaters then. In Kansas they were called Border Ruffians. There are men in this room who can tell you that what I say is true, when I call them murderers.

He fought them as rebels (at Snickersville) and now they are the fearful Ku Klux who are to assassinate "the good men," such as Butler, Bingham, Stevens, and last but not least, Geary!

We next fought them as rebels, and now we find them under the name of Ku Klux Klans. [Applause and laughter.] It is all the same; an association to destroy the liberties of the country and assassinate the good men. I am astonished when I think how reasonable men, who can read and write, continue in such company as that. I cannot understand how any sensible man can remain in the Democracy when he knows the fact to be true. It seems to be a determination to stick to the name—the name of a party that has given us good Presidents, but which has no longer any principle about it. I really believe that if they got control of the Government they would not know what to do with it.

If that speech doesn't carry Pennsylvania for Grant and Colfax, we would like to know what will?

ANOTHER BREAK-DOWN IN THE IMPEACHMENT FARCE!

The President again proved "Not Guilty!"

Stanton leaves the War Office!

He gives way on account of "Superior Force!"

On Tuesday the High Court of Impeachment voted on the second and third articles, and the President was acquitted of the charges preferred against him therein. This blasted the last hope of the Impeachers and compelled Stanton to sneak out of his hole in the War Office, where Sumner had admonished him so laconically to "stick!"

WHAT IMPEACHMENT HAS COST.—The cost of the impeachment trial of the President of the United States is estimated at four hundred thousand dollars. The probability is it will exceed five hundred thousand dollars.—Some witnesses cost five thousand dollars each. It is reported that the bill for printing the tickets of admission amounts to six thousand dollars.—Thus much are the poople taxed, in this single case, to gratify the malice of Thad Stevens & Co.—Albany Argus.

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

Scenes during the vote on Impeachment: Interview with Senator Fowler: Sprague's Obstinacy; Van Winkle's Boldness; Feminine Impeachers, &c.

WASHINGTON, May 16, 1868.

EDITOR GAZETTE:—You remind me of a promise to give you an account of the Impeachment scenes in Washington, if present. I arrived at the depot from Baltimore this morning, at 8.30. On my walk to Whitney's, I met several acquaintances to whom I put the interrogatory, in turn, "How about Impeachment?" and from the radical received the answer "gone up," "sold out," or some other expression indicative of deep disappointment. From the Democrat came the cheering assurance of "all right," "the President will be acquitted." At breakfast, I met Senator Fowler, who asked me about the state of feeling in the country. I told him the people were very calm. He said they were represented in Washington to be in a furious state of mind, ready to break out in open revolt. I stated that I had seen no excited people in Pennsylvania, except a few office-seekers. He expressed great gratification to hear it. I remarked that the indignation meetings reported by telegraph, were evidently gotten up by order from Washington, and that many of them were never held at all. After parting from the Senator and securing my tickets, I joined some friends who were loitering in the capital grounds, in pursuit of further information. It is reputed that Stevens has given up all hope of conviction. This morning some one went to him with the assurance that Willey, of West Va., was all right. "O, well" said Stevens, with that well-known curl of the lip, "they'll get Ross or somebody else." The friends of the President are still full of confidence, but new hope, since early morning, has sprung up among the impeachers. Some impudent, superserviceable fellow had gone around among the doubtful Senators, last night, with a slate, asking them to put down the articles they could vote for. They claimed that Ross was down for article XI, at midnight, and that his vote ensures conviction. But there are later advices. And the possessors of them are by no means communicative.

The morning is warm and bright; "loud, laughing, full of eyes and ears." The green of the grass and of the trees, contrasts beautifully with the pure white marble of the capital. The grounds as early as 10 o'clock, were filled with women and children, but there is no noise, no mirth. All seem deeply impressed with the importance of the events about to take place. Crowds of people are moving along the avenue towards the capital. The street cars are emptied every ten minutes at the capital gate; and carriages filled with elegantly dressed ladies are putting down their lovely burthens at the east front. We present our tickets at the north entrance, and pass in through a file of police men. The tickets are vised at the gallery stairs, and again at the gallery door. At eleven o'clock every inch of space in the galleries is occupied, the ladies largely predominating. Few persons are on the floor, except the pages and other employees. Soon the Senators come dropping in. Mr. Buckalew is at his desk, engaged with his correspondence, from which he now and then looks up to exchange a word with Van Winkle. Fessenden is similarly occupied. Dixon and Anthony seem to be in earnest conversation, at the seat of the latter, which creates alarm among the radicals, who watch them closely. Their talk may have innocent connection with an excursion down the river to-morrow, but it is put down to the absorbing topic. Anthony has been claimed, all the while, for the President. But Sumner assures the impeachers this morning that he will "stick." George Wilkes says Anthony does not come up to the standard laid down for Cæsar's wife. Sprague is a weak, frivolous man, with no fixed opinions on any subject. The legislature of Rhode Island is already elected, and Sprague does not own that "farm" so securely as to run any risk of defeat. Besides, he takes a perverse delight in running counter to the views of his wise father-in-law, Mr. Chase, and of his beautiful and accomplished wife. Burnside would never have sent that telegram, urging conviction, had he not correctly interpreted the wishes of his superior.

Of the sick Senators, Morton and Conkling have just come in, and Mr. Trumbull has gone over to the latter to congratulate him on his recovery. Much anxiety is expressed about Howard and Grimes. Some late comer has just told us that Howard has been brought in on a stretcher, and is receiving his friends in one of the committee rooms below. There is no word of Grimes. At 11.30, A. M., Mr. Wade calls the Senate to order, and there is a quite perceptible quaver in the hoarse baritone of his voice. The groups of talkers on the floor, break up, and members take their seats. The busy hum of conversation in the galleries is hushed. Of the President's counsel, Messrs. Stanbery, Evarts, Groesbeck and Nelson are at their table. After a brief prayer by the chaplain, the motion of Edmunds to take the vote on Article XI first, was carried, nineteen Senators voting in the negative, exclusive of Mr. Grimes. This result fills the impeachers with alarm. If it be a test vote, all is up with them. At precisely 12 m., the Chief Justice called the Senate to order, after a brief, whispered conference with Mr. Counsellor Groesbeck. He impressively warned the audience in the gallery against any violation of the rules of the Senate. At this moment, the Radicals of the House came trooping in in formidable numbers, with speaker Colfax at their head. To the great relief of the friends of the President, Senator Grimes has just arrived, and has taken his seat on the Democratic side of the chamber. The first Senator on the roll was Henry B. Anthony, to whom the Chief Justice: "Mr. Senator Anthony, is the respondent, Andrew Johnson, President of the United States, guilty or not guilty of a high misdemeanor, as charged in this article?" "Guilty," was the response, and there was a momentary stir among the radicals indicative of satisfaction and relief. The call of the roll proceeded and was checked off on a hundred lists of yeas and nays, without anything worthy of note, until it reached General Cameron, who created considerable amusement by squeaking out "guilty," before the Chief Justice had finished the question. He had to repeat his vote at the close, which he did with great alacrity. The next name about which great interest concentrated, was that of Senator Fowler. The radicals caressed and threatened him by turns; delegations from Tennessee had waited on him. The vengeance of Brownlow and all the loyal leaguers was denounced on him, in case he voted for acquittal. He arose and voted in so low a tone that the whisper went like lightning through the galleries, that he was for conviction, the first word of his response not having been heard. The Chief Justice asked him to repeat it, when he said distinctly, "not guilty." There was much anxiety among outsiders in regard to Frelinghuysen, but he had made a mark the night before opposite the 11th article, and the knowing ones on both sides put him down for conviction. His vote did not deceive them, though it did disappoint the moderate men of New Jersey, who had expected better things of him. Great anxiety was felt when it came the turn of Senator Ross, of Kansas. The radicals had kept long and painful vigils with him, and had made such a pressure on him that it was believed he dare not vote for acquittal. A lady sitting near me with the yeas and nays in her hand, marking the votes, said, "if Ross votes right we are safe." When the words, "not guilty," fell from his lips, the pencil dropped from her hand, and she sank back in despair. Blank dismay was painted on the faces of the radicals on the floor. Boutwell was looking up for that "hole in the sky," and Butler looked as if he could have crawled into a very small bottle. There was hurrying to and fro, and whisperings of distress, and cheeks all pale which, not an hour ago, were flushed with assurance of conviction. Senator Trumbull, in response to the interrogatory, replied simply "not," in a tone which reached every part of the chamber. Eighteen votes were already recorded for acquittal. One more is needed. The fate of the President hangs upon the lips of the two West Virginia Senators. The most intense excitement prevails. It is manifested in the deep stillness that pervades the chamber. There is not a whisper, not even the rustle of a silken garment. The doors of the gallery are closed to exclude the noisy clamor of many feet on the marble floor without. He must be stolid, indeed, who does not participate in the deep anxiety which occupies so many hearts. At the name of Van Winkle, that Senator placing his hands on the arms of his chair, arose in his place, the eyes of a thousand people fixed upon him. While the Chief Justice slowly and solemnly puts the question, the spectators have time to scan the looks and make-up of the man, on whose utterance depend such momentous interests. If he fail the President, then there is no hope but in his colleague, and great apprehensions are felt concerning him. Senator Van Winkle is a heavy, corpulent man, about 5 ft. 9 inches in height. He is extremely bald, and his scalp glistens. There is no whiskers to relieve the roundness of his big face. He looks like a pleasant, good-natured man, but shrewd withal. He bears among his fellow Senators a high reputation for probity and honor. The crowds in the galleries lean forward as if to interpret in his features, the answer, or to catch the first syllable that falls from his lips. Even the pages on the floor have caught the pervading excitement, and stand eagerly gazing at him. He votes "not guilty," in a tone that is heard by all, and the President is acquitted. The shameful vote of Wade for conviction, and of Willey, Wilson and Yates the same way, follow, and the Chief Justice announces the vote, 35 for conviction, 19 for acquittal. The High Court adjourns till the 26th inst., and the impeachers adjourn with their backers, bullies and bottle-holders, with Tilton, George Wilkes and Horace Greely, to meet at Chicago to nominate Grant and ——, and to read out of the party the honest men who have hitherto given it character, and prevented it from sinking. The crowd escapes from the galleries to give expression to their pent up emotions. Out in the pure air of heaven, on the steps of the capital, the foiled radicals have opportunity to give vent to their wrath in fierce imprecations on the heads of those whom they choose to call their betrayers. The faces of beautiful women even are seen to be distorted with anger, as they come out of the capitol. Over at Whitney's and the surrounding restaurants, many are seeking to deaden the keenness of their grief in deep potations. At the former place, Elder Peck is holding forth to a crowd of radicals on the treachery of Fessenden, but is soon brought to a "rest." The democrats and conservatives are enthusiastic in their demonstrations of joy, and great numbers have gone to the White House to tender their congratulations to the President.

A thousand calumnies are already afloat about the seven Republican Senators. They are too infamous for repetition. One, put in circulation by the N. Y. Tribune is, that the son of Mr. Trumbull has bet $5,000 on the result, when the truth is, he is but a lad, more occupied with his school books and play, than impeachment. The other stories are worthy of equal credit.

At 7 P. M., I left for Baltimore. On the train were Logan, Sickles, Norman B. Judd, Gen. Shank, and many others, on the way to Chicago. They looked as melancholy as if they were going to a funeral.

Yours Truly, REAM.

COLFAX'S BOAST.

History records to the immortal honor of our organization, that it saved a nation and emancipated a race. We struck the fetters from the limb of the slave and lifted millions into the glorious sunlight of liberty. We placed the emancipated slave on his feet as a man, and put in his right hand the ballot to protect his manhood and his rights.—Colfax's speech.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives, in his address on the occasion of his nomination to the Vice Presidency, proclaims, among other glories of his party, that of emancipating the negro. The morality of an action depends upon the motive, the means, and other circumstances. If I give alms to a beggar, in order to obtain applause, the act, indeed, is good, but the motive entirely vitiates it. I can have no reward before God or man. So, suppose that the Woolly or Black Republican Party performed a good action, by the emancipation of the slave, they entirely destroyed the merit of the action by their manifest motives and by all the circumstances connected with the act. Their object in manumitting the slave, was not his amelioration, but to get his vote, to keep their party in power, which they thought they could not do without the slave vote. What credit, then, has Colfax or his party? None whatever. The good deed was utterly nullified by the bad motive.

The circumstances, also, may vitiate a good action. The Colfax party threw out upon a civilized and christian community, four millions of uncivilized and unchristian Blacks, to corrupt our children, to lower, debase and demoralize the white population, the owners of the soil, the descendants of white men, who conquered this country for the white man. The negroes are only an accident here.

The Woolly, Black Republican Party exalt the Negroes, and depress, disfranchise their own "white race." Their motive cannot be pure. It is an "ill bird that fouls its own nest." These white "black Republicans" have "fouled their own nest." Colfax, therefore, in boasting about the emancipated negro, can obtain no laurels for his party. The motives of the party entirely corrupt the act of negro emancipation.

The glorious Democratic Party are for the emancipation of the white human race. Its motives are pure, not for party purposes, but for whatever is best and most expedient and useful for the entire human race. Away, then, with the false pretences of Colfax and his Black, Woolly, Jacobin party. They have no honor, no credit, no glory, from the emancipation of the Negro, which they accomplished from base, corrupt, party purposes, but which the Democratic Party, sooner or later, would have achieved from the highest, holiest, purest motives, at the befitting time, and at the season most beneficial to the colored race and the world. B.

THE DIFFERENCE.—One of the chief points of difference between civilized and barbarous mankind, is the attention given to the natural covering for the head; the one being carefully cut, cleansed and brushed, and the other allowed to remain dirty and unkempt. The use of "Barrett's Vegetable Hair Restorative" will ensure all that could be desired by civilization or ignored by barbarism.—Boston Post.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A NEW REMEDY IN CONSUMPTION.—A Physician who had Consumption for several years, with frequent bleedings of the lungs, cured himself with a medicine unknown to the profession, when his case appeared hopeless. He is the only physician who has used it in his own person, or who has any knowledge of its virtues; and he can ascribe the degree of health he now enjoys to nothing but the use of his medicine; and nothing but utter despair and entire extinction of all hope of recovery, together with a want of confidence in all others induced him to hazard the experiment. To those suffering with any disease of the Lungs he proffers a treatment he confidently believes will eradicate the disease. Medicine sent by express. Send for a circular or call on OBITUARY.—The announcement of the death of Dr. William H. Watson, causes deep sorrow throughout the community, in which his life was passed. In near and distant States it will bring sadness to many, who appreciated his skill and urbanity, during his long professional ministration at the Bedford Springs.

Upon the death of his father, Doctor Watson, at an early age, succeeded to the duties of a large and laborious practice, which he pursued assiduously and successfully—and there, in the legends of innumerable households, must the record of the unpretending deeds of the Physician's life be found.

Kind and urbane in social intercourse, as a Physician he was eminently so; and in the sick-room his tenderness and sympathy won at once the confidence and affection of the patient and his friends. In a profession whose members are proverbially jealous of each other, he succeeded, better than most men in preserving the amenities, and avoiding the asperities that often occur in contiguous practice.

Into the sacred precincts of Home it is not for us to intrude—farther than to know that the kindly and genial qualities that characterize his outer intercourse, shone with brighter lustre in the famliy circle, where he was loving and beloved.

But, after a life well-spent, and leaving no enmity in the breast of any living, the urbane gentleman, the kind Father, the good Physician rests from his labours, but still lives in the memories of those who remain to tread the same inevitable path. C.

FALL OF THE CEILING OF A CHURCH.—On Saturday last, the ceiling of the Stone Church (Lutheran) in Bedford tp., fell to the floor, carrying with it joists, girders and a large quantity of bricks from a chimney. Luckily there was no one in the building at the time. On Thursday previous the people of the neighborhood had gathered in the Church, and on Sunday, when the Sabbath School was about to convene, it was discovered that the floor was covered with rubbish and many of the pews broken to pieces.

REASONS WHY.

We are enabled to offer superior inducements to purchasers of clothing, to which your attention is respectfully invited.

We have a business experience of more than 25 years, have been longer established than any house in our trade in Philadelphia.

We employ sufficient capital to make ALL PURCHASES FOR CASH, which, together with the fact that our large business enables us to buy in large amounts in first hands, thereby saving all profits of jobbers and middlemen, give us advantages in purchasing at the lowest rates, SHARED BY NO HOUSE IN OUR TRADE.

We sell only for cash and having no losses from bad debts to provide for, the paying customer is not TAXED TO HELP PAY THE DEBT OF ANOTHER who does not pay, as is inevitably the case in a business where credit is given.

We employ the best talent in all departments, which, with long experience, enable us to manufacture garments SUPERIOR IN EVERY RESPECT—equalled by few—surpassed by none.

We have the largest establishment for the manufacture and sale of clothing in Philadelphia, extending through from 518 Market street to 511 Minor street, occupied exclusively by ourselves, also a branch store at 600 Broadway, New York, and keep at all times of MEN'S, YOUTH'S and BOYS' READY-MADE CLOTHING, the largest stock and best assortment in the city, from which any person can be accurately fitted at once, as well, or better, than by garments made to order, our large stock comprising every size of all styles of goods. We have recently added to our previous stock a full assortment of CHILDREN'S GARIBALDI AND OTHER SUITS, equal to any in the city in style, trimming, and make; which are sold at lower prices than have hitherto been known in Philadelphia. They, with all our Boys' and Youth's goods, are kept on the first floor, nearest the front, convenient for ladies. We have also recently opened on our SECOND FLOOR A CUSTOM DEPARTMENT for the display of a choice selection of Foreign and Domestic Fabrics in the piece, which will be MADE UP TO ORDER, in the best style, by competent and skillful cutters and workmen. The advantage of dealing with a CASH HOUSE will be especially apparent in this department, upon a comparison of prices.

We guarantee our prices lower than the lowest elsewhere and also guarantee full satisfaction to every purchaser, and request, that should any cause of dissatisfaction exist with a purchase made, it may be reported to us, pledging ourselves, by exchange, refunding of money, or otherwise, to give full satisfaction in every case. (Samples and prices sent by mail when desired.)

An examination of our stock respectfully requested and your patronage, if the above statement of facts be satisfactorily demonstrated.

MEDICAL.—DR. A. S. SMITH, having resumed the Practice of Medicine, solicits a generous share of the patronage of the community. Office in his residence, at St Clairsville.
He would call the attention of the public, and to those more immediately interested to the following: His health being too delicate to bear much of the fatigues and exposures consequent on general practice, he has adopted a speciality in the profession.
Soon after commencing practice, some twenty years since, he was attracted by the almost universality of female complaints, both in the married and single state. Partly from natural inclination, and in order to obtain success in practice, these complaints were made the subject of incessant study. These alterations, displacements and deranged functions of the organs peculiar to the female, are owing to that refined sense of delicacy on the part of the female, who, ignorant of the consequences, prefers to suffer in silence rather than expose her situation. Seldom cured by the general practitioner, who is prevented by this delicacy from acquiring by experience that tact and skill necessary to discriminate the exact change present, and contents himself with prescribing for the deranged functions, or overlooking the cause, simply for attendant nervous disorders, founding his prescriptions on a Plethoric Anaemonic state of the general system and the result is no benefit, as the number of the long suffering females bears ample testimony. Believing that he has, from long and special attention paid to them, acquired that skill in discriminating and experience in treating, he solicits the suffering to give him a call. No charges for consultation or examination. Visits made to all parts of the county.
Applications for medicines can be made in writing by accompanying stamp for return letter.—Medicines sent when desired. TERMS invariably cash for all medicines and instruments.

ESTEY'S COTTAGE ORGANS are still ahead of all competitors and stand unrivalled in POWER, PURITY OF TONE and BRILLIANCY, and all oiher points which go to make a first-class instrument.
The "VOX HUMANA TREMOLO" is the greatest of all modern improvements on reed instruments. It CHARMS and SURPRISES all who hear it, by its wonderful resemblance to the HUMAN VOICE. Do not confound this with the common tremolo in use. It is entirely different, and far superior to any other.
For sale wholesale and retail by
E. M. BRUCE,
18 N. Seventh Street, Philadelphia.
☞ Send for descriptive circular and price list.
The effect of your "Tremolo" is entirely new to me, and is certainly the best I ever heard.—GEO. W. MORGAN. [The first Organist of America.
No Tremolo has yet been invented that will in any degree compare with this for beauty of effect. In fact, it seems to me to be absolutely perfect.—WM. A. JOHNSON, Pipe Organ Builder.
Estey's Cottage Organs are without a superior for exceedingly quick articulation and round tone—the essential features in instruments of this class.—GEO. JARDINE, Pipe Organ Builder.
The Cotttge Organ is the best of its class I ever saw, and the best adapted for church music of any in use.—C. HEINTZ, Organist, Findlay, O.
I am much pleased with the Cottage Organ which I purchased from you; it combines sweetness and power in an unusual degree, and is quite a favorite in our family circle.—BISHOP SIMPSON.
We know no organs of the class which possess so many valuable qualities.—INDEPENDENT.
For the parlor, its sweetness is remarkable; for the church it has a power more organ-like than anything we have seen.—METHODIST.
Persons wishing to purchase an organ are requested to examine the Estey instruments now in use at the Presbyterian and Episcopal Churches, Bedford, Pa. jul26,'67
